

ABSTRACT

A system and method for distributing a plurality of electronic articles is provided. Articles are received from a plurality of users and stored retrievably in memory. A 5 request is received for the purchase of an article from one of a plurality of users. An electronic funding account associated with the one of a plurality of users is debited, and the article is transmitted to the one of the plurality of users.